

THE CHEF'S CIRCLE RETURNS THIS SATURDAY

FEATURING FORMER WHITE HOUSE EXECUTIVE CHEF

For Immediate Release – June 2, 2011

Salem's popular Chef's Circle on the Farmers Market cooking demonstrations return this Saturday to downtown Salem at 9:30am. The summer-long series, that features some of the best culinary experts in the area, kicks-off with US Foodservice chef, Jeff Bland, and a very special guest.

Former White House Executive Chef, Walter Scheib, who kept the first families of Presidents Bill Clinton and George W. Bush fed during their terms in office, will share some of his unique insights and experiences during his visit to the Chef's Circle.

Scheib is adding this event to his already busy itinerary this Saturday that includes a sold-out fundraising dinner in Salem designed to generate funds for the Youth Programs at the Gainsboro Family YMCA. Each year the YMCAs of the Roanoke Valley provide scholarships in excess of $1 million dollars to those who can't afford to participate in programs otherwise.

The Chef's Circle program is designed to enhance the experience of shopping on the Salem Farmers Market by showcasing the fresh products of our unique vendors. The program also gives aspiring chefs a shot of confidence and some helpful hints to try the next time they're in their own kitchens at home

So, bring a lawn chair, your curiosity and your appetite to the Salem Farmer's Market this summer. Get more information on the Chef's Circle program at www.thechefscircle.com
